PREFACE TO THE SECOND EDITION.

THE first edition of this work, was the first effort of the Author, and it is believed to be the first attempt to present the component parts of English derivative words, in their distinctive character, and exhibit their combination in any thing like SYSTEM. The practicability of the work had been under consideration, and the materials principally collected, many years before the plan was fully carried out. The first edition was at length presented, and notwithstanding its imperfections, has fairly SETTLED the question, as to the importance of the plan proposed, and the course to be pursued in acquiring a knowledge of derivative words. The experiment has been made, and repeated under such circumstances, that the Author, from his own observation of facts, will now GUARANTY, to communicate more knowledge of derivative words in the English language, to any class of English scholars over twelve years of age, in twelve weeks, than ever was, or ever CAN be communicated, in the ordinary way, to those of a similar age, in twelve months.

The experience of thirty years, devoted exclusively to instruction, has presented every grade of intellect, with every diversity of capacity for improvement, both in classical and English literature; and in no instance, so far as recollection serves, has any former course of instruction on this point, afforded such facilities as the one now offered, for acquiring a knowledge and ready use of derivative words. It is a fact well known to classical scholars, that the primitive words in our language, are comparatively FEW, and of the simplest order, such as almost every child of ten years old knows. It is when these simple words grow up into their derivative, compound and complex forms, that the child loses sight of their import, and simply, because he is ignorant of their component parts. How few children could tell what agglutinative means; and who of them does not know what is meant by glue? The classical scholar perceives this peculiarity of construction the moment he opens the book, and adds, "such principles are not matters of opinion, they are matters of fact;" the component parts of all derivative words being known, how can the scholar fail to know A WHOLE, just as soon as he understands ALL the component parts.

The principles then on which this work is executed, are interwoven with, and fundamental to, a critical knowledge of every language. Hence one undivided opinion has been expressed by the classical scholar, that "Analysis, was the only method, by which it was possible to arrive at, and feel the full force of a compound, or derivative word." One grand object in the study of the classics, is to acquire an extensive knowledge and command of language. It is believed that the principles developed in this little book, are the very principles by which every scientific man is guided, and on which rests all his critical knowledge in any language.

The embodying them is, therefore, only collecting such component parts of words, as have for ages governed language, showing how they have ever been applied, and then taking advantage of this knowledge to confer some of the important benefits which the classical student now receives almost exclusively, on our common English scholars. It is the undivided opinion of the most competent judges, that an English scholar, thoroughly versed in this system, will, so far as language is concerned, secure to himself many important advantages, which the classical scholar alone has heretofore enjoyed. The plan and execution of the work are original. It is not designed to come in competition with any other book now in use. It is not designed to supersede, nor take the place of any school-book whatever, but to follow any, or all such, as the case may be.

The second edition has undergone a thorough revision. The whole plan has been much simplified and adapted to the capacities of children in our common schools. Much has been added, and it is now submitted to an enlightened public, with little desire on the part of the Author, but its general utility to the rising generation, and in part, to relieve teachers of that thankless burden of responsibility, and painful anxiety in devising and trying a thousand expedients to give their pupils a respectable knowledge of words, and a proper command of language. None but a teacher can know the sleepless solicitude of that profession. The Author has spent his life, with all his feelings merged in the prospects of the rising generation, and the diffusion of that general knowledge, which has placed this whole nation on so proud an eminence. Knowledge and virtue are, emphatically, the stepping stones to individual distinction, the main pillars which must ever sustain our free institutions, and the broad foundation, on which the temples of our nation's glory can securely stand.

It is, therefore, most ardently desired, that teachers especially, and all well-wishers to any improvements in the facilities of communicating a knowledge of the structure of words, so as to furnish a general clue to their common import, and thereby, at once unlock the whole amount of derivative words in the Language, will kindly impart their views, in aid of a cause, common to science, and common to our country.

THE AUTHOR.

TO THE PUBLIC.

THE simple fact, that words are the common medium through which all knowledge is, in some way recorded, transmitted, received and communicated, should induce every person to make vigorous efforts, fully to understand their import. If words are read or spoken, and the reader or hearer is ignorant of their appropriate meaning, he might as well not have read or heard. It has been a common exercise in our schools, for scholars to spell, year after year, till the whole contents of the spelling part, were completely memorized, and at the same time, very few of the words distinctly understood. Hence in reading a sentence, if asked the definition of the words singly, or the collective idea contained in the sentence, either no answer would be given, or one altogether confused and unintelligible. This shows a radical defect somewhere. Either the writer has failed by the improper use of words to record an idea, or the reader, through his ignorance of those words, cannot tell what that idea is. This may be no reflection on the student's intellect, yet it is a most serious reflection on that course of instruction which has consumed so many years in little else than repeating sounds, without any regard to their distinctive import. And why, it may be asked, may not a scholar just as soon as he can combine words in reading, with any degree of fluency, commence and continue learning to associate their appropriate ideas? what use can these words be till their meaning is known. And cannot ideas be learned with greater facility than naked words, from the instinctive interest the mind feels in its perceptions of ideas, as well as from the powerful influence of the principles of association on its operations? It is the very nature of mind to think, and derive pleasure from every new thought. This deficiency, therefore, as to the true import of words, according to established usage, is a radical defect in the education of our country. It is felt, more or less, in every department of society. It is complained of, even by the finished classical scholar, direct from the halls of our colleges, as a serious defect in the fundamental part of his English education. A defect upon which he always looks back to the early period of his life when he could run through all the spelling columns in his book, with as much facility, as a parrot can say 'Pritty Pol,' and at the same time, with little more knowledge of their import, or use, simply because he was not otherwise taught—had no exercise, which led him, directly or indirectly, to that point. When therefore he comes into public life, and must be responsible for the precise ideas his words convey, he is often compelled to make frequent appeals to his dictionary, in relation to some of the most common words in the language. Who does not know this from his own experience, when just stepping into public life? There is not, most probably, a teacher in the higher departments of science in the United States, who has not witnessed this defect, in a greater or less degree, in the elementary English education of many of his pupils. A specific remedy should be diligently sought, and if found, speedily applied. If the author has not greatly misjudged, this book does present something like a remedy. If he has misjudged, he has plenty of good company. For in the course of twelve years, the author has been examining this very point, at intervals, and has passed through many of the states, seen and conversed with many scientific men, and in May, 1835, at the General Assembly at Pittsburgh, availed himself of the opin-icns of man, others, some of whom, at least, were men of undoubted qualifications. All, he believes, aside from any personal considerations, have agreed in the same opinion. Indeed it is the only opinion which could be predicated on the fact, that primitive words, given with their definitions, shall be learned by the scholar—that after spelling and defining such primitive, then with its prefixes and suffixes, he shall carry it through all its derivative forms, in some cases amounting to more than a hundred words, with their appropriate meaning. The result of such a course could not fail to secure its object, and lay the foundation deep and broad, in the analysis of words, with their true import, equal to the entire length and breadth of our language.

Competent judges have entertained the opinion,* that a scholar may, by proper application, acquire more knowledge of the English language in a few months, on the principles of Analysis and Synthesis, laid down in this book, both in accuracy of spelling, structure of words, and their true import, than ever is acquired in the ordinary course of study, during many years. It is very obvious, say they, that scholars will learn to examine the structure of words, and trace out various formations from the same root, something in the manner as the classical student is exercised in Greek and Latin. In this way he readily discovers how the primitive word varies its signification, as it is run through all its derivative forms. From a knowledge of all the component parts, he can easily trace each shade of difference, from the plain, literal signification, to the most beautiful figurative applications. Hence if he has thoughts to record, he is qualified to choose the most appropriate words, and nothing but inexcusable carelessness can cause ambiguity of expression.

* This opinion has since been demonstrated by actual experiment.

DIRECTIONS FOR STUDYING THIS BOOK.

1. THE scholar must understand the difference between a primitive, and derivative word. Sec. 1.

2. He must observe when the same combinations of letters are neither prefixes nor suffixes. Sec. 2.

3. The prefixes must be learned so perfectly, as to prevent the least hesitancy in defining them, either alone, or in connection with such words as the teacher is pleased to propose. Sec. 4.

This is a PRIMARY and FUNDAMENTAL requisition.

In rendering the prefixes familiar, experience has proved the most successful method to be, for the teacher to name primitive words promiscuously, in any part of the book, tell their meaning, then join the prefix, and require the student to define the word. A few exercises in this manner will secure a correct and prompt answer. This exercise should in no case be omitted.

4. The suffixes with their signification as appended to words, must be learned with the same care as the prefixes. Sec. 5.

5. Let the scholars be frequently exercised in the synopsis of prefixes and suffixes. Sec. 6 & 7.

6. Let the manner of defining words be well understood, in sec. 12, connected with the example in the word Press, sec. 13, the teacher pronouncing each word, and requiring the scholar to define it according to its formation.

7. Examine the rules for forming derivative words, and the use of commas, with their examples, sec. 9, and continue this exercise through sec. 15, of forming and defining words with their suffixes classed. This exercise must be continued until the mode of defining is perfectly familiar.

8. Next, let the manner of combining the prefixes in sec. 11, be well understood.

9. Examine sec. 10, and in connection with it, form the derivative words by reading them in sec. 16, till that exercise becomes familiar.

When the above is well understood, students in the higher classes, may be put to the exercise of spelling primitive words, forming and defining their derivatives, at the discretion of the teacher. As they read, also let them analyze the words.

In common schools, after committing the prefixes thoroughly, the scholars may commence sec. 14, and go on regularly, referring to such rules and explanations in their advancement as the teacher finds needful.

In common schools the course to be pursued is simply the following: Let the scholars learn the prefixes and suffixes, the manner of combining them, the import of the word after such combinations—then commence sec. 14, and go through the book in regular spelling lessons, as in any spelling-book, but with this addition, that the meaning of each word must be learned, and given when spelled; after which, let the scholars be required to form and define as many derivatives as they can.

One winter's school of four months, will carry any industrious scholar, of 10 or 12 years old, completely through this book, at 20 primitive words per day. From the 1600 words which are given, more than 30,000 derivatives are formed. Experiment, in the opinion of competent judges, has satisfactorily settled one important point, that children, under this discipline, can actually acquire more knowledge of the English language in one winter's school of four months, than was ever acquired in the ordinary way, by scholars of the same age, in four times that number of months, if not in their whole life. Let teachers, therefore, make thorough work in the application of the principles of this book, and they will shortly see their pupils becoming thoroughly versed in the knowledge of language. Teachers should frequently exercise small children in the synopsis of the prefixes and suffixes, together with sections 14 and 15.

SECTION I.

Explanation of Primitive and Derivative Words.

PRIMITIVE words are such as can be reduced to no fewer letters than what are then expressed. Man, Fame, House, Sense, are primitive words, because they can be reduced to no fewer letters, and convey a distinct idea of each thing specified.

But Manly, Defamation, Insensibility and Houseless, are derivative words, because they can be stripped of all their letters above Man, Fame, Sense and House, and still leave a significant word.

A compound word is composed of two or more distinct words, as Sugar-maple, Over-load, Common-place-book.

In this work, all such words of Latin origin as Abdicate, Convene, Adhere, &c., so far as our language is concerned, will be taken as primitives. Yet the classical scholar will perceive they are not such in the language whence they are derived. Some other words also will be inserted which are not primitives.

Those parts which are added to a primitive word, we shall call prefixes and suffixes; and as the primitive has at least one appropriate meaning, all the varieties of signification which arise from additions in any way made to such primitive, must depend exclusively on those parts added. Hence, when all the prefixes and suffixes in the language are known, nothing remains but to acquire the meaning of the primitives to understand the whole language, so far as those component parts are concerned in modifying the import of words.

SECTION II.

In applying the following rules, in this book, it must be remembered, their application is confined exclusively to derivative words. When any of those combinations of letters, called prefixes and suffixes, constitute an essential part of a primitive word, they are in such cases neither prefixes nor suffixes, and do not come under the rules of Analysis nor Definition. Such as 'ess,' in Bless, 'ate,' in Climate, 'ish,' in Lavish, 'ment,' in Torment, &c., 'em,' in Embers, 'bi,' in Bias, 'un,' in Under, together with all such primitive words as contain a similar combination of letters as any of the prefixes and suffixes. To such the rules do not apply.

SECTION III.

Origin of some of the Prefixes and Suffixes.

THE greater part of the prefixes in the English language, comes to us from the Latin and Greek. In those languages they are separable or inseparable prepositions. Very little difference exists in their independent signification or conjunct influence, as used in our language, or in those languages whence they are derived. Their extent of application gives them a commanding influence. Hence the importance of a distinct understanding of all those small words so extensively interwoven in the formation of our derivative words.

The suffixes are of a more doubtful origin; yet their common import, as appended to words, can be obtained with sufficient precision to answer the more important purposes of this work. Nor is it very material, in this case, whether we can or cannot decide unequivocally on their origin, provided we can be satisfied how their application does change, alter or modify the import of words according to established usage. Although such inquiry is not necessarily connected with this work, yet we will give some general view, both as to fact and probability of their derivations.

ER. When it signifies a person, as in Lover, Farmer, &c., is considered to be a contraction of the Saxon wer, which signifies a Man. Hence, Lover implies a man or person who loves.

OR. Is derived from the Latin. Er and or, go far in distinguishing Saxon and Latin derivations.

ESS. Is probably of Hebrew origin, yet many derivatives in or, from Latin, take ess, to distinguish the gender, as Actor, Actress, generally dropping the vowel which precedes r.

Y. When the final letter, is thought to be the equivalent of the German ig, and gives at least three different senses to words.

1. It expresses a condition, as Slave, Slaver, Slavery.

2. A place where something is done or kept, as Factor Factory; Armor, Armory.

3. The possession of something, as weal, wealth, wealthy.

LY. Is a contraction of like, derived from the Saxon 'lic.' We say either death-like, or deathly; God-like, or Godly; but always goodly, and always war-like.

TY. Is derived from Lat. as Pietas, whence Piety; Levitas, Levity; Serenitas, Serenity; Civilitas, Civility.

FY, FIT, FIC. Have a common origin, which is the contraction of Facio, or Fio, to make or become. Fructify is a contraction of Fructus and Facio, to make fruitful; Deify, &c., Deus and Facio.

ABLE and IBLE. Horne Tooke thinks are taken from the Gothic word 'abal,' implying power, strength, or ability.

Able and ible, are also common in Latin, from habilis.

TIVE. Is borrowed from the Lat. Tivus—as Nativus, Native; Nominativus, Nominative; Genitivus, Genitive.

IC. Is a contraction, as it is thought, from the Greek ikos, as Kritikos, Critic. Some, however, are from Lat. and French.

TION, SION. Are derived from Lat. and in many instances differ in signification very little from 'ing,' as in Education, or Educating. When the Latin Supine, whence they are borrowed, ends in tum, we spell tion; but when the Supine is sum, we spell sion.

Lat. Motum, Conventum, Formatum, Collectum.

En. Motion, Convention, Formation, Collection.

Lat. Aversum, Submersum, Incursum, Adhesum.

En. Aversion, Submersion, IncurSION, Adhesion.

Some are formed from Lat. nouns, by the addition of n to the nom. case, as Natio, Statio—Nation, Station.

ANCE. } These six terminations have evidently grown
 ENCE. } out of the pres. part. nom. case of Lat. verbs, ANCY. } because the spelling of each agrees with the ENCY. } four conjugations. The first, with few excep-
 ANT. } tions, has ance. The second and third, ence, ENT. } and the fourth ience. Lat. First. conj. Affirm-ans, Accordans, Circumstans. En. Affirmance, Accordance, Circumstance.

Second and third conj. Tendens, Agens, Ardens, Insolv-ens. En. Tendency, Agency, Ardency, Insolvency.

Fourth conj. Audiens, Conveniens, Obediens, Experiens.
 En. Audience, Convenience, Obedience, Experience.

Lat. Dissonans, Dependens, Delinquens, Expediens.

En. Dissonant, Dependent, Delinquent, Expedient.

This fact, if duly regarded by the classical scholar, would prevent any mistakes in spelling words of this description.

MENT. } Are admitted to be of French origin. Ment,
 AGE. } is extensively used.

ATE. There are a numerous class of words having this termination, which in form, exactly agrees with the imp.
 mode of Lat. verbs, second person, plural, and the Lat.
 perf. part. vocative case; yet in signification there is little or no analogy. It is now an English termination common to words of Lat. derivation, as Accelerate, Obliterate, Deliberate, Demonstrate, Accommodate, &c.

D. In such words as Multiplicand, Dividend, Subtrahend, Legend, Reverend, &c., is evidently a contraction of the
 Lat. dus or dum, as Legend for Legendus, &c.

BLE. This termination has come down to us through the medium of the Italian and French; from the Lat. bilis, the French mistaking between bile and the Italian vole, made it ble, and very improperly appended it to a numerous class of words, such as Syllable, Vestible, Double, Treble, &c.

EN. Is derived from the Saxon an, through the German en, and was originally equivalent to our particle to, of the infinitive mode. Amongst the Saxons, en and n were used in common with ed as participial terminations, as Craven, Heaven, Barren, for Craved, Heaved, Barred; both are retained by established usage. We now say given instead of gived, or we make use of either, as Engraven or Engraved; yet by far the most numerous class of words retain ed exclusively. t is often used like en for ed as built for builed.

RIC. Is derived from German, and implies possession, as Bishopric.

DOM. Is from the Saxon dom, implying a collection of things.

ING. Is taken from the German ung.

LING and KIN. Are also borrowed from the German, and are commonly used as diminutives, as Duckling, a little Duck. Lambkin, a little Lamb.

HOOD. Is also borrowed from German, as Boyhood, Priesthood, expressing a state or condition.

TH. Seems to be peculiar to some of the more ancient forms of our language, accompanied in most cases, by a change of vowels, as Long, Length; Strong, Strength; Bear, Birth; Moon, Month, &c.

GHT. Is the equivalent for the German cht, as in sight, &c.

ISH. Is the substitute for the Saxon isc.

SOME. Probably may have come from the Saxon sum.

FUL. Is derived from the Saxon voll.

LESS. Is also from the Saxon laes.

ED. While a great portion of our verbs derived from the Saxon, are very irregular, as drink, swim, fling, &c., those of Latin origin, are pretty uniformly marked by the regular addition of ed to their imperfect and participle.

SHIP. Seems to be borrowed from some word implying to shape, or do something, as Friendship, Fellowship, &c.

NESS. Is doubtless from the Saxon nesse.

AL. May be considered of Latin origin.

AR and ORY. Are also derived from the Latin.

IZE, IST, ISM. Are of Greek derivation.

URE. Is from the Latin.

UDE, TUDE. Are also from the Latin.

OID. Is derived from the Greek, eidos.

OUS. Is taken from the Latin.

There can be little doubt that most, if not all the important terminations in our language, were once significant words, or a contraction of such words. Could this be precisely ascertained, it would furnish a most perfect development of the true genius of our language. The result of such a discovery would expose all the errors and imperfections that now exist, and naturally induce subsequent writers to avoid them, and gradually introduce what in process of time would be a pure if not a perfect system of language.

SECTION IV.

Explanation of the Prefixes.

A PREFIX is a letter, syllable or word added to the beginning of some other word to vary or modify its primitive signification.

Theist implies a person who believes in the existence of a God. Now prefix a and it becomes Atheist, implying one who does not believe in the existence of a God.

Again, Possible means that which can be done. Now prefix im and it becomes impossible, implying what cannot be done.

Some entire words are occasionally used as prefixes.

The following are the principal prefixes in our language, influencing the meaning of words.

A, AB, ABS. When these are prefixed to words, which are commonly of Latin origin, they usually denote,

Separating,
or Departure,

Taking from,
or Privation,

As Ab solve, to free from.

Ab lution, the act of washing away.

Ab scision, the act of cutting off.

Abs tract, to take from.

Ab breviare, to shorten, taking apart.

Abs temious, refraining from.

Ab jure, to swear off, or renounce upon oath.

N. B. A in many instances does little else than confirm the meaning of the word, and has an equivalent signification with on, to, in or at. As ashore, on shore, abed, afar, afoot.

AD. When a prefix signifies to, increasing or adding something more to the primitive import. ac, af, ag, al, an, ap, ar, as, at, are only different modifications of ad and have the same signification, usually adding something more to the primitive import; as Join, to unite; Adjoin, to unite to; Credit, to believe; Accredit, to give belief to; Affix, to fix to; Annex, to connect to; Attest, to witness to.

N. B. The phraseology need not be confined to the word to, but may vary in any manner, which will imply addition; as Accord, to agree with; Adjacent, near by; Assure, to make more certain.

AMBI. Implies two, twofold, or doubtful; as Ambidexter, using both hands equally well; Ambiguous, of doubtful meaning.

ANTE. Always denotes before, either in time or place; as Antedate; Antediluvian, before the flood.

ANT, ANTI. Denote against, or opposition; as Antichrist; Antifebrile, good against fever.

ALL. When used as a prefix, simply enlarges the signification, and is equivalent to most, wholly, or in the highest degree; All-cheering, most cheering; All-abandoned, wholly abandoned.

AFTER. Always implies behind, or later, in some sense; as Afterpart, Afterlove, Afternoon.

BE. As a prefix denotes nearness, about, to make, on, or at. It is derived from some root, signifying to press; as Bedew, to moisten with dew.

BENE. Always implies good, or well; as Benevolent, wishing well; Benefactor, a doer of good.

BI, BIS. Are the same, and as prefixes mean two; as Bisect, to cut into two parts; Biennial, once in two years.

BY. When used as a prefix, means nearness, closeness, withdrawing, or seclusion; as By-stander, By-path, By-lane.

CIS. On this side; cis-Alpine, on this side the Alps.

CENTU. } A hundred, or by the hundred; as Centu-

CENTI. } plicate, to make a hundred fold; Centiped, an CENT. } hundred feet; Centennial, consisting of a hun- dred years.

CONTRA. Signifies against, or in opposition to; as Contravene, to oppose, or come against.

CO, COM, COG, CON, COL, COR. Have a common signification, indicating union, or connection, in some sense, and are nearly equivalent to with, joined with, and in connection with, or together; as Join, to unite; Conjoin, to unite with; Press, to squeeze; Compress, to squeeze together.

CIRCUM. Always implies around, or about; as Circumnavigate, to sail around; Circumvent, to come around.

COUNTER. Signifies opposite, against, or corresponding; as Counteract, to act against.

DE. When a prefix, usually implies from, down, separating or removing from, and a negative sense; Deduce, to lead or draw from; Debase, to bring down; Derange, to put out of place.

N. B. It sometimes adds intensity to the meaning; as Deprave, to make worse.

DI, DIS, DIF. Imply separation, disunion, out, not, or two; also, to take away, in a privative or negative sense; as Diverge, to move in different directions; Disarm, to deprive of arms; Dishonest, not honest; Disinter, to take out of the earth.

DECA. Means ten; as Decagon, ten angles.

E, EX, EF, EC. Commonly imply out, out of, from, or beyond; as Merge, to put under water; Emerge, to come out; Evade, to escape from; Exclude, to shut out; Exhaust, to draw out.

N. B. In some cases they do little else than to add emphasis; as Exasperate, to make more angry; Exact, very exact; Extend, to advance further; Extreme, to the very end.

EN, EM. Are a substitute for in, and generally increase the primitive signification; as Enlighten, to afford more light; Embed, to lay in a bed; Enforce, to add force.

SECTION IX.

General Rules for forming derivative words.

1. When the primitive word ends with the vowel e, drop that vowel before every Suffix beginning with a vowel, except ous, and a few others.

2. When the letter y terminates a primitive, or occurs in any of the derivative forms, and in either case, other suffixes are added, y is commonly changed into e or i, except before ing ; as Comely, Comeliness ; Duty, Duteous.

N. B. Betray and Buy, with a few other words, are exceptions.

3. When any part is cut off from the end of a word by an inverted comma, each suffix which is preceded by a similar inverted comma, must take the place of that part cut off; but no others may; as Legi,ble ,bly ,bility ,ness.

Now ,bly, is to take the place of ,ble, and forms Legibly; and ,bility, taking the same place, forms Legibility; but ness, not being preceded by the inverted comma, is added to ble, and forms Legibleness.

4. Each suffix has a separate union with its primitive word in all cases, unless a single comma intervenes, in which case, each subsequent suffix, as long as that comma is repeated, is united with the first of those two suffixes where the single comma commenced.

In like manner, if two or three commas are used together, they join additional suffixes on the same principles.

Take two examples, and mark the application of the commas.

Argue ed er ing ment, al able, ation, ative,, ly. Combined thus :

Argue.	Argument,al one comma, Rule 4.
Argued, Rule 1.	Argument,able.
Arguer.	Argument,ation.
Arguing.	Argument,ative.
Argument, excep. Rule 1.	Argument,ative,,ly two commas.

Injur ed er ing y, ous,, ly,, ness. Combined.

Injure.	Injury.
Injured.	Injuri,ous, one comma, and y changed to i .
Injurer.	Injuri,ous,,ly.
Injuring.	Injuri,ous,,ness.

5. There are a few words, generally monosyllables, ending with a single consonant, before a single vowel, which double the final consonant in forming their derivatives. Thus Abet, makes abetted, abettor, abetting, except abetment. So clip, clipped; entrap, entrapped; fret, fretted; plan, planned.

6. When t or s precedes e final, in such words as admission or mission, e is dropped and the suffix is ion; as,

Legate, Legation; Expanse, Expansion.

7. Most words ending in fy, which is a contraction of facio or fiō, after changing y into i, take cation; as Deify, Deification; Gratify Gratification.

Except Stupefy, with few others, which makes Stupefaction.

8. Many words of Latin origin in ate, drop te before ble; as Estimate, Estimable; Agitate, Agitable.

The same class of words not admitting ble, take cy in its place; as Accurate, Accuracy; Adequate, Adequacy.

cy, is common to words in ance and ence, by dropping e final, and adding y.

9. Words which take ize, as a suffix, commonly add ation; as Civil, Civilize, Civilization.

Some others take ation, without ize;

Sense, Sensation; Exalt, Exaltation.

In this manner a very numerous class of our primitive words form their derivatives from a single root. The word Press, in connection with its prefixes, has no less than eighty-three derivatives of the same regular formation.

But there is another class of words, apparently, in view of the English scholar, either arbitrary or irregular in their terminations, which are, nevertheless, equally systematic, though not equally simple in the formation of their derivatives. Such are more especially of Latin origin, and the apparent irregularity arises from a formation growing out of a different branch of the same root. And though the English scholar may not exactly comprehend the whole process, yet his mind will in part be relieved from the embarrassment. Take, for example, Adhesive. He will not doubt it is derived from Adhere, whence is, ent, ence, ency, er. These are regular. Now the Latin Adhereo makes its supine Adhesum, whence according to sec. 3, is tion or sion as the supine is tum or sum. Hence from this branch of the same original root, Adhesum forms Adhesion, Adhesive, Adhesively, Adhesiveness; as regularly as the first formations are. Accede is of the same order, and forms accede ed ing. Then from Accessum, sec. 3, comes Accession, and forms Accession al, ary, ness, ory, ness, al, ly; all regular formations. Rule 3.

Intelligence, Intellect and Intellectualist, are of the same order. From the Latin participle Intelligens, comes Intelligence er ed ing, ent, ible, ness, ibility, ibly. Rule 3.

Now, from the Latin perfect participle Intellectus, comes Intellect, whence Intellect, ion, ive. Next the Latin supine Intellectu, whence is derived Intellectual ist ity ly.

In such words as explain, expect, fatigue, &c., we arrive at a, in expectation, explanation, fatigation, &c., through the medium of the Latin participles explanatus, expectatus, and fatigatus; but in some other words, such as grade, a comes direct through the medium of the noun gradatio. Gradus forms gradu, whence we derive gradual ity ly ate, ed, ing, ion, or.

Words of Latin origin in ble, seem, either from accident or otherwise, to have the simple addition of ble to the imp. mode, first conj., second person, singular, as Naviga ble, Numera ble, Demonstra ble, Predica ble, Administra ble, &c., and in general the spelling able or ible is governed by the Latin conjugations. The first makes able or ble, all the others ible; as Interminable, Impregnable, Legible, Audible, Sensible.

Method, Metaphor, Meteor and the like, are regular formations ; as Method ism ize ic,al,,ly ist,ic,,al ; except when a primitive taking ize ends with a vowel, t is added ; as Stigma,tize, Dogma,tize.

Form, makes Form al,ism,ist,ity,ize,ly ed er ing ful less ; and formatio, makes forma,tion,tive.

The suffixes ous, ness, less, ful, ish, ism, age, en, ure, can hardly be mistaken ; as Glory, Glorious ; Good, Goodness ; Life, Lifeless ; Play, Playful ; Sweet, Sweetish ; Tory, Toryism ; Parent, Parentage ; Soft, Soften ; Fail, Failure. In some cases ure is less obvious ; as Tenure, from Teneo.

In this work, the root and each branch whence all the derivatives arise, will be given, so far as the Latin is concerned. So that each primitive word may be carried out through all its derivative forms, or traced back to its simple root, and discover how the primitive signification has been expanded into such a variety of figurative applications.

On examination of something like seven hundred and thirty words, whose suffixes are carried out in this book, giving at least ten thousand derivatives, the regularity of formation will be still more obvious.

This fact also, if duly regarded by teachers, will enable them to perfect their pupils in the correct orthography of derivative words, with far greater facility, and a far less tax on memory. To accomplish this, it is only necessary to LEARN DISTINCTLY, the TRUE spelling of the several SUFFIXES in their SEPARATE STATE ; which may be done almost at a single lesson. The spelling of the simple primitive can hardly be missed ; to which the joining of the several suffixes, completes the derivative word under most of its forms. It is true, there are many exceptions ; but it is equally true there are NOT LESS THAN THIRTY THOUSAND WORDS, whose spelling, as to their SUFFIXES, is the same, LETTER FOR LETTER.

SECTION XI.

Special Rules for the Prefixes, which must be distinctly understood, both by the Teacher and the Student.

MANY words, so far as respects the English Language, are primitives; yet in that language from which they are derived, they are either compound, or derivitave words. Such, especially, are words of Greek and Latin origin. For example, Abscond, so far as our language alone is concerned, is a primitive word, because we have no such English word as scond. But in the Latin, from which it is derived, the word is a compound, from the prepositions abs, con and do. Also Advert, in English, is primitive, but in Latin, from which it is derived, it is compounded of ad, meaning to, and Verto, to turn. Hence Advert signifies to turn to. Suppose the word to stand thus: a re Ad,vert. Now take away ad and substitute a, which is another Latin preposition, and it becomes A,vert, and literally means to turn away. Again drop a and substitute re in its place, and it becomes Re,vert, signifying to turn back. Hence it must not be forgotten by the student, that in all cases, when one prefix is to be dropped and another substituted in its place, the primitive word will be printed thus: Con,vert, Ac,cord, Ex,clude, De,flect; and that part of the word which precedes the comma, must be dropped, when another prefix is to be used.

Example.

at dis de re pro. Con,tract, to draw together.

Now drop con, and substitute pro, and it becomes *Pro*tract, to draw out. Again drop pro, and substitute re, and it forms Retract, to draw back. In the same manner de, forms Detract, to draw away from. Also dis, makes *Dis*tract, to draw apart, or separate; and at, forms Attract, to draw to, or unite.

When no part of the primitive word is separated by a comma, the combination is simply to drop one prefix, and join another, according to the following ad pre mis fore re. Judge.

Now re combined, makes rejudge, and each prefix in its turn, forms the words forejudge, misjudge, prejudge and adjudge.

As many of the prefixes combine with each other, the following examples will show the manner of combining them in this work. Take Inspect.

un	un	}	re	super	In, inspect, to look on or view.
a	circum de
intro	per pro		un
retro	dis ir		un	re.

Explained thus: Each prefix under the horizontal line, or standing alone, unites with the primitive word, in the same manner as in Contract and Judge; but the prefix or prefixes above the horizontal line, unite with the prefix under the line, while that prefix remains united to the primitive. Thus, Super and re standing above the line in connection with In, combine with it, and form Superinspect, and reinspect; de standing alone takes the place of In, and forms despection; circum, under the line makes circumspect, and un over the line, forms uncircumspect. In the same manner un a make aspect and inaspective; un su, form suspect and unsuspecting; pro, per, intro, and dis ir un retro being alone combine as in contract, while re make respect, disrespect, irrespective, and unrespected.

Take another example:

fore un pre ad pre. Monition. These make premonition and admonition, then fore, un, and pre, above the line over ad, form, fore-admonition, pre-admonition, and un-admonished.

If these directions are distinctly understood, and duly observed, there can be no mistake in the application of the prefixes. Every thing depends on the utmost precision in this particular. On this point, the Teacher must be scrupulously exact, and the student as scrupulously attentive. Another point to be observed in the prefixes, is their influence on the primitive word. The most of them are uniform in their distinctive character of import, while a few are used in two or more senses, widely different. Such are im, in, il, ir, &c.

These prefixes, more generally, when united to verbs, increase or strengthen the original meaning of the primitive words; as Im press, In fold, Il luminate, Ir radiate. In each case additional force is given to press, fold, luminate, and radiate, by prefixing im, in, il and ir. But when the same prefixes are united to adjectives, and occasionally to some other parts of speech, they entirely reverse or change the primitive signification, as Im possible, In sensible, Il legible, Ir rational. Each word now meaning the same as not possible, not sensible, not legible, and not rational. Also de, e, ex, are used, sometimes to take something from the primitive word, as de fame, ex onerate, e lapse, which signify to deprive of fame, to free from load, and to slide away. And the same prefixes in other instances, add more or less to the primitive import, as de prave, ex cess, e vince. Now let it be remembered in the case of all such prefixes as above named, when they in any manner add more force to the signification, or merely render its import more emphatical, such prefix, or prefixes, are uniformly in this book, printed in the Italic character, and in no other case. For example, im plant, in fold, ir radiate, ex tend, im possible, in formal, ir religious, ex clude. The Italics only, show a strengthened signification. This simple arrangement will prevent mistakes in the teacher, though not a classical scholar himself, and prevent misapprehension in the student.

It is now thought the Prefixes have been explained so clearly, that no scholar of common capacity, who wishes to understand and apply them correctly, need mistake, although he may not be under the care of any teacher.

SECTION XII.

Manner of Defining.

WE will now endeavor to explain, in a familiar way, the manner of defining words by their prefixes and suffixes. And it is simply to speak out the primitive signification in connection with the separate import of such prefixes and suffixes as constitute the whole word. Take flame, which is the primitive, and means fire. Now in, as a prefix, makes Inflame, and increases the import of the primitive word, and literally means to put fire in, or to set on fire. Again, Inflammable—able, means capable of, or capable of being; hence join capable of being, to the meaning of in and flame, and the whole spoken out is, capable of being set on fire. Now let it stand Inflammability, and ability means the quality capable of being. This expression joined in like manner to what Inflame means, it will be Inflammability, the quality capable of being set on fire. Next add the second prefix and let it be uninflammable, and speak out the meaning of un with what Inflammable means, and the whole expression will be Uninflammable, not capable of being set on fire. Again, take Uninflammableness; ableness means the property capable of being. Now pronounce the whole import, and Uninflammableness literally signifies the property not capable of being set on fire. Take Delude, signifying to deceive, and it forms.

Deluder, the person who deceives.

Delusion, the act of deceiving.

Delusive, tending to deceive.

Redeem signifies to ransom, ir means not, and able, capable of being. Then Irredeemable means not capable of being ransomed.

Join is a primitive word, and signifies to unite. Let it stand thus with its prefixes.

re un

ad con . re un dis sub mis se inter. Join.

ad means to; con, with, together with; re, again; un, not; dis, parting; mis, wrong; se, separation; sub, under; inter, between. Then, Adjoin, is joining to. Conjunction, is the act of joining with. Reconjunction, the act of joining with again. Unconjoined, not joined with or together. Rejoined, was joined again. Unjoined, was not joined. Disjoin, parting what was joined. Subjoin, to join under. Misjoin, to join wrong. Sejoined, separated. Interjoining, continuing to join between.

Hope implies expectation, then Hopeful, full of expectation. Hopeless, without hope or expectation.

Blue is a peculiar color; ish means a quality in some degree like. Hence Bluish, somewhat blue. Brownish, somewhat brown.

Prison is a place for confinement. Imprison, to put in a place of confinement. Imprisonment, the act of putting in a place of confinement.

Mandate expresses a command. Mandatory, containing a command.

The primitive word must in all cases be learned, then speak out this primitive signification in connection with what all its component parts mean, and you have the precise and definite import of the entire word. A little careful exercise will render it perfectly familiar, and give the student an entire and ready command of language, and an instantaneous mental perception of the true import of words, written or spoken. If he reads or hears Navigate, or navigator, navigation, navigable; Renavigate, renavigated; Circumnavigate, circumnavigation, the sound can no sooner fall on the ear than the mind will perceive the different import of each word. The same must unavoidably be true in relation to every derivative word whose primitive, prefixes and suffixes are separately known.

SECTION XIV.

THIS first exercise is designed particularly for children in common schools, presenting the simplest arrangement in forming and defining derivative words.

All the prefixes and suffixes are printed in Italics, so that the scholar may distinguish them by the eye from the primitive word.

Let the scholar commence by spelling and defining Mix, with all its derivatives, thus:

Mix, to mingle.

Mixed, did mingle or was mingled.

Mixer, the person who mingles.

Mixing, continuing to mingle (at a certain time.)

(un means not;) Unmixed, was not mingled.

Now spell each of the following words, and define them in the same manner as Mix, carefully observing, by the Italics, what parts are added to the primitive word, and what meaning they give to it. Let the teacher put the questions distinctly, and observe that the scholar has a correct understanding of the process.

Bake	Mark	Wish	Wash	Nail
Baked	Marked	Wished	Washed	Nailed
Baker	Marker	Wisher	Washer	Nailer

Manner of discovering Latin Roots.

When the English word is derived from a Latin derivative, the prefix to the Latin root, is italicised, or the root is given in addition. If the English word is from a Latin noun, participle or supine, of regular formation, nothing more is commonly necessary than to italicise the prefix, and thus show the primitive ; which is usually done in the following tables.

For example, the English word Inscribe, is from the Latin Inscribo, where in being italicised, leaves scribo un-italicised as the root. So Obstruct, is from Obstructum, where ob is likewise italicised, leaving structum as the regular supine from struo, its root. In this manner Latin primitives and derivatives may generally be distinguished.

As this work is specially designed to aid English scholars, who have no knowledge of the classics, and consequently could not trace out very remote derivations, it was thought advisable for their benefit, to accommodate the arrangement in this respect, to their understandings, by giving those words whose signification is greatly expanded, under different heads, or repeating the root, in connection with such prefixes, as in each case would best correspond with the several primitive meanings.

For example: An,nounce, signifies to publish or declare to, and in natural connection is pronounce. But Re,nounce, means to disown, or reject, and in accordance with this, is de,nounce; yet both words have the same root. Also Instruct, to teach, Construct to translate, structure, a building, obstruct, to block up, and destroy to pull down, are from the same root: struo, to build. All these words have corresponding prefixes, and when relatively arranged the whole becomes perfectly intelligible to the English scholar.

The scholar must remember that some of the prefixes, and especially un, rarely combine with the primitive word till it has assumed some of its derivative forms; as Faith cannot be unfaith, but unfaithful.

A little observation of the tables where all the suffixes are carried out with the prefixes, will afford the best guide on this point. Re and un, are prefixed to adjectives and participles almost at pleasure; and are not always inserted in this work where they might be used with propriety. All, high and self, like prefixes, are extensively used in composition as all-amazed, high-minded, self-sufficient, &c.

SECTION XVII.

Fourth Exercise.

All the prefixes used in this exercise mean as follows.

SECTION XXVIII.

IMPORTANCE of knowing Latin words, or of understanding that language.

From the vast number of Latin words which have either in whole or in parts become incorporated with the English language, much benefit is derived from a knowledge of their primitive import. In most cases they give that turn to the English signification, which accords with their original meaning. Hence the primary signification of such Latin roots as are extensively involved in the composition of our language, must necessarily furnish an important auxiliary in determining the true import of all such English words.

For instance, the verb facio, with its supine factum, whose simple primitive meaning is to do, to make, or to cause, enters in some form into the composition of more than 500 of our English words; and in every case imparts more or less of its original signification. A knowledge, therefore, of the meaning of that verb and its supine, with the ability to distinguish its combination in any word, must of necessity aid the scholar in a more perfect comprehension of the true import of all English words, of which this is a component part.

This is a consideration fully equivalent for learning the primitive meaning of facio, factum. The same is true to a very great extent in a vast multitude of Latin primitives. Much would be gained by committing Latin primitives as they occur.

Words of Greek origin, while they furnish a fruitful source of derivation, are by no means as numerous or important as those of Latin.

We will subjoin a few of the most prominent words in Greek and Latin, with something near the number of their several combinations in the formation of English words, viz:

Facio, Factum, 500; Pono, Positum, 250; Plico, 200; Fero, Latum, 198; Specio, 177; Mitto, Missum, 174; Teneo, Tentum, 168; Capio, Captum, 197; Tendo, Tensum, Tentum, 162; Duco, Ductum, 156; Logos, gr. 156; Graphō, gr. 152. These twelve words enter in some shape into the composition of nearly 2500 English words.

From 154 Greek and Latin primitives which have been examined, in reference to this point, it is found that not far from 13,000 English words receive more or less of their component parts, characterizing the English signification to a greater or less extent.
